Dear Dave,

Thanks for tour note and the letter to Cartright.

I appreciate being kept up to date.

Yesterday I received a copy of his story, I've read it and think it is much less than he could have done.

I've also received a copy of Moore's Conspiracy of One. Boy does it stink!

Does any of you know anything about him or what prompted him to do this book in which he is so dishonest?

And, of course, nasty to just about anyone else other than on the Sixth Floor.

Is his a real business of some kind of scam? It sure gives him great amounts of free time.

I've half-way thorugh it. It is not a book on the assassination. It is a book against critics, and ordinarily that would require some kind of inspiration, hatred or reward.

If any of you sees anything about it, including reviews, I'd appreciate copies, for archival purposes.

Apparently he was in touch with me when he was an arrogant, self-important kid but I can't find most of what he refers to. What I did findindicates that while I was, as usual, trying to respond to inquiries, he was making a pest of himself.

I do hear from many young people and do make an effort to tell them what they want to know.

By Jay Epstein do you mean Edward Jay?

Bud dies hard!

Thanks and best to you all,

Jerry
